Suggested Use:

Traditional Use: Stir one teaspoon (3 g) into a glass of water (avoid using a metal spoon). Allow to stand at least 15 minutes (preferably overnight) and drink the clear water or stir and drink the "clay milk" first thing in the morning and as needed, or as directed by a health care professional.

External Use: Mix with floral water (hydrolat), distilled water, or herbal tea to make a spreadable paste. Add essential oil if desired (see the Windrose blending guide for proper dilution guidelines). Apply the paste as a poultice as needed or use as a weekly facial mask. Refrigerate or discard unused portion.

The ingredient in this product is supplied by well respected USA and/or European vendors and is analyzed for purity and quality.
